"The Sneetches" This is a great story about treating everyone with respect and love. This story is all about a group called the Sneetches. Some have a star on their belly and some do not. The Sneetches with stars are treated better than those without. This can become a great lesson on how we are all daughters of our Heavenly Father. It doesn't matter what we look like, or what material possessions we own.

"I had trouble getting to Solla Sollew." The story basically tells of a journey the main character goes on trying to get to a "Utopian city." Things attack him, he trips and falls, etc. He eventually gets a baseball bat to defend himself. I thought this would be a fun way to teach about the importance of defending your virtue and getting to where you want to go.
